

CREW is a local not for profit organization, a group of local residents, dedicated to making conservation and renewable energy options accessible to citizens of Waterloo Region.

OUR VISION is to be a network of knowledgeable advocates, early adopters and interested citizens who initiate resource and support all local projects that encourage energy conservation, and sustainable use of energy or materials from naturally re-generating sources, such as wind, solar and earth energy.

CREW is achieving this goal by providing, free to the public:

- informative presentations on conservation & renewable energy related topics;
- an e-newsletter with local conservation & renewable energy news and events; and
- a website/portal with conservation & renewable energy related information specific to Waterloo Region (www.crewzone.ca).

As a member of CREW you can:

- attend member-only events for more in-depth information;
- network with like-minded citizens and local experts;
- vote on issues shaping the direction of CREW;
- contribute to the activities of CREW through your membership fee;
- have opportunities to make a greater contribution with volunteer activities in working groups or community projects.
